“ Every Saturday morning of my childhood was spent running errands with my dad -- and Imber's was almost always on the list. Alan continued to get custom clothes for my dad for many years after they closed. I have really fond memories of both Alan and Jerry. I'm so sorry for this tremendous loss.

“ Dear Ellen and Family, May the God of All Comfort be with you and your family at this time of loss. Alan and I always teased each other that we were brother and sister. The story goes way back to the friendship of Jerry and my mother, Beulah Klenke. Ida Legow and my mother were delivering their babies the same time in 1949. Every time we were in Imber's, Jerry reminded my mother about how she looked while walking the halls waiting for me to be born. Of course, my mother teased right back at Jerry. And, Jerry always told me that he knew exactly how old I was. He became "Pops" and Alan became "brother". Alan always was kind and sincere and so caring. Of course all the things that you already know and loved about him. The world has lost too much. Prayers and Blessings, Marilyn Klenke Gerstenecker
