“ Ray was welcomed into our family 5 months before I was born. He was the best Uncle anyone could ever ask for. Great stories. Awesome cook. I never remember him being cross or in a bad mood in my 44 years of knowing and loving him. He will be missed dearly.

“ My memories of mr.Sperduto revolve around their kitchen table. As a kid, he would have Rachel and I sit down while he chatted with us about our day. He was always laughing. When he wasn't laughing he was feeding us. I remember being introduced to pizza rolls at their house. He also made us these little circular ham pieces with cairo syrup on top (I'm probably screwing up what type of meat it was). But his love for his family was always tangible. He was a great man.

“ While I never got the chance to meet my cousin, Ray, I got to work closely with his lovely wife, Sue while working on our shared family tree. I am so sorry to hear of his passing and will keep the entire family in my prayers.

“ Ray always had a great smile when Sue and I would drag in from taking Rachel and Hilary on Girl Scout outings. I don't think I ever saw him when he wasn't smiling. I loved hearing about their visits back East to visit his big Italian family. They sounded like fun people.
